AIR TANKERS
Near the end of the war, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz revealed what he called the Navy's "secret weapon." It was the flat-bellied supply fleet, fast enough to fuel, rearm and provision the carrier-cruiser task forces en route from one strike to another. This made it possible for the Navy to keep its combat units at sea for months at a time.
The other day the Air Force put on a demonstration which showed clearly what changes air tankers — flying counterparts of the Navy's supply ships — will make in global air strategy. A four-engine B-50 bomber flew a circuitous route from Texas to Hawaii and return, a total of 9,400 miles non-stop. At a point halfway along the route, presumably at sea, the plane dropped a "sizeable bomb load."

Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington said that the trip was made possible by the "relatively simple process of refueling in the air." At three points during the flight, he revealed, B-29s, converted into tankers, fueled the big plane, by the expedient of stringing a long hose between the two planes and pumping high octane gas from one plane to another.
The concept of fueling in the air is nothing new. The U. S. Army Air Forces and the RAF were both using the technique experimentally before the war. The fact that the U. S. Air Force has made a go of it on a large scale (there is a tanker flight group in commission) doesn't prevent Russia from doing the same thing. But this country is in the fortunate position of having great numbers of large but obsolete bombers in surplus. They would make excellent "tankers."

Strategic air planners now are freed of some of the bugaboos of distance which have long governed their thinking. Mr. Symington points out that a bomber can now fly around the world non-stop.

Three days after Costa Rica disbanded its army and converted its principal fort into a national museum, it was calling on other Latin American nations for help to repel an invader. It cannot be denied, though, that Costa Rica tried to set a good example.

Grand Champion steer at the International Livestock Show in Chicago sold for $10.50 a pound, a figure which sounds faintly familiar to those who buy meat at retail.

The boys who hid state secrets in a pumpkin may have remembered where Peter of nursery fame kept his wife, and very well.

At least half of the "howl" football teams in America this year are destined to be howled over.

Russia's expansionist policy continues to stimulate America's charitable instincts.

After December 22 the days like the federal payroll, will lengthen.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Feb. 16, 1899. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Bucks County Press.

The teams from Bloomsdale farm were the first to open the road to Bristol on Tuesday morning on the turnpike, which now with the big drifts across it looks about as easy travelling as in summer when the wagons go down to the hub in sand.

At the meeting of the Fourth Ward Hose Company last week the following officers were elected: President, John B. Myers; vice-president, Herbert Crowther; treasurer, Ebenezer Lund; secretary, Ellis Ratcliffe; foreman, James Neill. The trustees' terms had not expired. They are Benjamin Groff, N. Schwartz, and Harry Carter.

Incidents of the Storm—
The bodies of two unknown men were tossed out of the drifts on the Reading Railway, west of Yardley, yesterday by snow plows. One of the victims had been frozen and the other killed by a train.

Hugh B. Webster, Harry Johnson and Thomas Goheen, of Himeville, were coming to Bristol on Monday afternoon in a sleigh drawn by a team of strong horses to market their goods. When opposite the Bristol Cemetery, the horses pulled the sleigh apart in a big drift, where it remained for several days.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred at St. Mark's parochial school on last Friday. The water feed pipe to the boiler which heats the building with steam became frozen and the boiler went dry. Instead of putting out the fire the janitor thawed out the water pipe and began to run the water into the red hot boiler. As soon as the cold water went into the boiler it gave four or five explosions which broke the boiler before it could be shut off. There has

Thomas Perry has now almost enough work on hand to keep his fertilizer factory running day and night. Among the stock now on hand to be converted into tallow and bone dust are five cows that perished in the snow storm on the farm of Martin Ulrich, near Tullytown, and also the trotting horse of Joseph Davis, of the same town.

At the meeting of Goodwill Hose Co., No. 3, it was decided to furnish the upstairs or assembly room of their new hose house. A handsome Brussels carpet will adorn the floor. The new furniture, which is all of oak, will consist of a large number of high straight back chairs, a large latest ments amounting, actually, to substantially reduced taxes.

Lansdale Revising All Assessments

From the outset of the assessment discussion in Lansdale it has been brought out that industry will not object to paying more local taxes, since these are merely charged off federal taxes.

Mr. Metz indicated that the industrial properties may expect increases of 20% to 50%, plus whatever blanket is applied.

The blanket increase will take in all properties, residential, commercial, and the new industrial rate. Mr. Metz said that he is not in a position, at this time to say what the multiplying factor will be.

Speaking of the variance among home assessments, Mr. Metz said that it is impossible to set up a fixed ratio in today's market. Fifty and seventy-five-year-old houses, with old-fashioned fixtures and woodwork that in ordinary times would hold down their value are being snapped up at high prices that are not indicative of real values.

The best type of home, he said, has not gone up in the same proportion as the cheap one. Speaking of unimproved lots, he said that they are bringing in only about two-thirds what they did in 1929.

Under these conditions, Mr. Metz insists, it is impossible to fix a proportionate evaluation that will apply to every home, without having a complete revision of the entire list every year or two.

Bucks Countians Digging Out of 17-Hour Snow Storm

The State Highway Department from its office in Doylestown reported that all roads are open, but a majority are slippery. "Very little trouble is being experienced, however," said a spokesman. Thirty-two cinderling crews, totaling 100 men, have been on duty, cinderling hills, curves and intersections throughout the county. "This morning the plows conducted widening operations," it was added.

In Doylestown and central Bucks county, it was stated this morning that storm conditions there were about the same as in the lower end of the county.

One woman was slightly injured yesterday afternoon when the car in which she was riding was in a crash on Route 13 at Corson street. Mrs. Emanuel DiQuatro sustained a bump on the left side of the face. She was treated by her family physician. A car operated by John Carter, Bloomsdale road, in which his wife and baby were passengers, and a car operated by Emanuel DiQuatro, 719 Corson street, in which his wife and baby were passengers, collided at Route 13 and Corson street. The DiQuatro car was making a left turn, according to police, into Corson street and was hit on the left side by the Carter machine. Both cars were travelling west on Route 13, and both were damaged.

Chief of Police Joseph Seader in Bristol township reported a number of minor accidents with no one being injured. Friday night a car driven by J. H. Schaffer, Center street, Pennell, crashed into a steam roller of the S. J. Groves Co., contractors, building the Bristol-Doylestown highway. Schaffer, according to the police, said he was returning from Burlington, N. J., and fell asleep. The car crashed through the barricade on the new highway at Durham road, then into the steam roller. The car was practically wrecked, and Schaffer sustained lacerations of the nose and face. The damage done to the barricade, signs and steam roller, is estimated at $300. Two persons were injured last night in Philadelphia when a Route C trolley and an automobile driven by a Croydon man collided at Broad street and Nedro avenue. Mrs. Eleanor Metzger, 41, of 1432 E. Cheltenham avenue, Philadelphia, and her daughter, Mrs. Clara Dalozza, 19, of Haunted Lane, Croydon, were treated for shock and bruises at the Jewish Hospital, Phila., and then discharged. The driver of the car was Arthur Delarosa, 25, husband of Clara; and the motorist of the trolley was Richard Welsh, 37, Belmont avenue, Doylestown.

Neibauer Bus Co. officials report buses on all company lines in operation and approximately on schedule.

In four Bristol churches programs as scheduled were conducted last evening. There were Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour, Harriman Methodist, First Baptist, and Calvary Baptist. The cantata which was given in Harriman Methodist Church will be repeated next Sunday, it is stated. Bristol Presbyterian Church postponed its planned cantata until next Sunday at 11 a. m. The special program by the Sunday School of Zion Lutheran Church was postponed, date to be decided. Bristol Methodist Church cancelled its evening program, and the scheduled cantata is to be given later, date to be announced.

Miss Mack and Mr. Geiges Wed At Candlelight Ceremony

EDDINGTON, Dec. 20 — In a Yuletide candlelight service at half after four on Saturday, in Eddington Presbyterian Church, Miss Helen Marie Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip G. Mack, Cornwells Heights, was united in marriage to Mr. George Parker Geiges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Geiges Sr., Andalusia. The Rev. Arthur D. Sargis officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned with a scalloped illusion neckline, yoke, long tapered sleeves of lace, fitted bodice, and long full skirt. A satin halo, trimmed with orange blossoms, a long train of lace, and white satin slippers were worn. A single strand of pearls adorned her neck, and a bouquet of white roses, carnations and a center of orchids was carried.

Gowned in red velvet styled with a low neckline, basque bodice with button down front, long sleeves and long full skirt, Miss Alice Mack, attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore silver slippers, a halo of holly and red carnations and carried a matching bouquet. With green as the chosen color the two bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Scheer, Mayfair, and Miss Mary Ashton, Eddington, wore identically styled gowns, headpieces and silver slippers as those as the maid of honor. They also carried bouquets of holly and red carnations. The three attendants wore single strands of pearls.

Mr. Elmer B. Geiges, Jr., served his brother as best man. Mr. Robert Scheer, Mayfair, and Mr. Arnold Stackhouse, Andalusia, were the ushers.

The choice of Mrs. Mack, mother of the bride, was a dress of black crepe, flamingo tone hat with black veil and bow, white gloves and black slippers. Mrs. Geiges selected a black crepe dress, black hat and accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations. A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents, with 75 attending. The former Miss Mack selected for her wedding trip a coat suit of winter blue, white blouse, black top coat, slippers and handbag; small white hat and white gloves. She wore the orchid corsage from the wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Geiges is in her senior year at Temple University, Philadelphia. Mr. Geiges is employed as a bookkeeper at the Penn Manor Products Company, here. He also attends the Pierce School of Business Administration, Philadelphia. The newly-weds will reside in an apartment on Hulmeville road, Cornwells Heights.

FIFTH WARD TEAM DEFEATS PROFY; SCORE, 58 TO 42

Overcoming a 12-point deficit, the Fifth Ward Sporting Club handed the Profy team a surprise defeat yesterday afternoon in a Bristol Basketball League game on the Rohm and Haas floor. The defending champions were beaten by the Warders, 58-42.

The Profy team started off in fine style and with "Johnny" Messenger, formerly of East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College, paving the way, scored enough points to gain a lead in the first five minutes of play. During this time, Messenger scored five baskets.

But the boys of "Soddy" Caro began to find the range of the nets and at the half-way mark had cut the lead to 25-21. Even the entrance of "Johnny" Pindar, high-scoring star, could not help the Mill Streeters. Pindar was guarded closely by "Eddie" Mazzanti, so close that he had but one field goal and four fouls for six points.

HIBERNIANS GO INTO WIN COLUMN; MORRISVILLE LOSES

The Hibernians broke into the win column of the Bristol Basketball League yesterday afternoon with a 49-43 conquest of the Morrisville Hoopers on the Rohm and Haas court.

The "Hiboes" had the lead from the outset and never were headed. "Johnny" Rodgers put the Corson Streeters in front early in the tilt with three fast double-deckers all difficult shots. Rodgers, one of the leading scorers in the circuit last season, finished the game with 17 points.

Joe Elmer did an excellent job in breaking up the Morrisville plays and in addition counted 13 points.

Saxton also played a nice defensive game.

The Hoopers used but five "iron men" in the tilt, weather conditions preventing the remainder of their players from putting in an appearance. They were led by "Jim" Campbell who made 13 points.
